For the past ten years more women than men have graduated from medical school each year and still, women remain largely underrepresented in impactful clinical research positions.

To advance clinical or translational Oncology research in Switzerland, SAKK, in collaboration with Incyte, is offering a prestigious grant to ambitious clinical cancer female researchers. The award is endowed with CHF 30'000.

The recipient of the SAKK/Incyte HERo in Science Award in Clinical Cancer Research 2025 will be honored at the SAKK semi-annual meeting on May 22, 2025.

For the full requirements and more information on the eligibility of the projects, please read the «Rules & Regulations» on the SAKK Website (www.sakk.ch).
